

MediaWiki:Visualeditor-dialog-media-size-section-help

You can set how large the media item appears on the page. This should almost always be the normal size, as a custom size will interfere with the layout of the page for readers and make it inconsistent.